

Change: Climatic or Apocalyptic?

It is generally thought that most of the recent upheavals in meteorology are the result of abuse of the planet through human activity. But could it also be possible they are traceable to the imminent beginning of the final outcome predicted in the Bible – judgment upon the multiple abuses by humanity, as divine patience comes to an end? God's Holy Word, the message given to us by the One who can never be wrong, nor will He ever deceive us, predicts a Great Tribulation that seems to be just over the horizon. There will be terrible sicknesses, famines and serious conflicts. The relationship to what we see more and more every day in the news (pandemics, inflation, war) is remarkable.

The Holy Scriptures tell us that this Great Tribulation will last but seven years, after which the Lord Jesus Christ, God's Son, will establish a 1000-year reign of continuous justice and peace. Make no mistake, all this will happen. Jesus said, in Matthew 24:35: "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away". Of course, we'd prefer that things didn't work out this way, but it's more likely that they will. Certainly, every word in the Bible speaking about the future will come to pass, sooner or later. And what's going on today may well be the preliminary events leading up to the ultimate upheaval God predicts.

For the mocker or the scorner, a text like this is taken as a mere fable. However, if your conscience is even a little bit alert, you, like me, will have registered the extent of the decadence, violence and corruption running rampant through society. Happily, God's "way out" stays the same. He invites us, and even commands us, to repent according to Acts 17:30-31: God now commands all men everywhere to repent. Because He hath appointed a day, in the which He will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom He hath ordained; whereof He hath given assurance unto all men, in that He hath raised Him from the dead: And that man can only be the Lord Jesus Christ! Many have believed these words; have obeyed, have repented of their sins and have accepted the Lord Jesus as their Saviour.

At the moment these lines are being written, there is still time to believe and be saved. By the time you read them, it could already be too late, so I am in a hurry to send them out so that you will respond in time.

Acts 16:31: Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.

John 3:18: He that believes on Him is not condemned, but he that believes not is condemned already because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.

Believe on the Lord Jesus and be saved, and you will never come under judgment. The Judge is coming! What terror awaits those who will stand before the One they have rejected; the only One who could grant a full pardon because of His work on the cross! We sincerely pray that will not be your destiny.
